With politicians like Joan Ballweg, that headline could just as easily be “2024 News.”

She voted against repealing Wisconsin's 1849 abortion ban that had no exceptions for rape or incest.

She also voted against allowing protections to ensure pharmacists provide doctor prescribed birth control, co-wrote a law that could ban IUDs and Plan B, and even voted against emergency contraception for rape victims.

We don't need laws around women's health from 1849, and we don't need politicians like Joan Ballweg pushing her outdated views.
